ANSWERS ACT I: CAUSES OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION

Guiding Question:	Answers from Video:	Additional Evidence/Examples
What were the three major effects of the French and Indian War?	Treaty of Paris: France cedes North American territory to Britain and Spain. Spain cedes Florida to Britain. Proclamation of 1763: British prohibited colonists from moving west of Appalachian Mountains after Pontiac's Rebellion out of concern over conflict with Indigenous Americans. Britain faces mounting war debts.	• Britain emerges as world's leading power • Sense of pride and accomplishment among colonists • Albany Plan fails to create unified colonial government but sets a precedent for colonial collective identity and action • Increased tensions with Indigenous Americans
How did new policies and laws contribute to growing tensions between Britain and the colonists? How did the British justify these taxes, and why did the colonists disagree?	PM Grenville wished to increase revenue and enforce Navigation Acts. The Quartering Act required the housing of soldiers, and the Stamp Act was a new tax imposed without colonial input. The British argued they had virtual representation over the colonists, but the colonists argued that no one truly represented their interests in Parliament, so they had no say in the laws.	• End of salutary neglect • Sugar Act and Townshend Acts placed additional taxes on goods and tried to curb smuggling • Stamp Act was first direct tax: the colonists paid it directly to the British • Dickinson's Letters from a Pennsylvania Farmer opposed taxes for revenue without consent • "No taxation without representation"
